

Washington City March 21st 1857.

My Dear Sir,

The marriage of my sister prevented my writing last week and giving you an answer in regard to the time of Mr. Remont's return. I am half ashamed to say that she Remonts reached here last summer. but if you can excuse my neglect for that once I will promise never to do so again. For once Mr. Cam. Johnson is not to blame, but in another case. I think he is. Before Mr. Remont left I sent to your daughter, who pressed some of his plants, a card case of Chinese manufacture brought to me from Canton, which is I expect in the dead letter office. The uncertainty of trusting to a third party in the provinces as well as here, will I think deter Mr. Remont from sending in his plants in advance of his party; and for his own arrival we cannot reasonably look until May or June - if indeed then. This war has interfered sadly.

with his original intentions. Our own letters from him date no later than the first of October. Despatches from the fleet & Com^d Stockton are here dated the 25th of November, but as Mr. Kimball was several hundred miles in the interior he was not aware of the chance for writing Capt. Stockton's letters, are vexatious - because they require more assistance from Mr. Kimball. I am in hopes that the Dragoon force under Genl. Kearny & the New York regiment, will procure his release for as you may perceive I have no sympathies for the war, nor ~~does~~ Mr. Kimball. Fighting is not his aim & though he threw all his energy into the affair last July & August yet it was as if reneging a private insult for he knew nothing of the war - of course as an officer, real insults to the country would be felt, & met by him in the same manner, but in my private opinion, there was no necessity for blood to wipe out the insult.

offered by Mexico. I have let myself go from the point, but you will see that it is uncertain when Mr. Fremont can leave California. Genl.
Kearney carries him his Lieut. Col's commission & discretionary orders, to stay or return as he thinks fit. I know what he would wish, but one's feelings cannot always be allowed to direct. So you see I can only say that I know nothing. I hope that we shall soon hear - perhaps by May even he may arrive at St. Louis, but now it is impossible to decide. Should I hear, I will lose no time in giving you the news. At all events some good will result from the year in California for Mr. Fremont has been able to collect through all the seasons, & get plants in all stages.
Young Abbott's report accompanies this - perhaps it may be of some interest although he seems unskilled in exploration.

I am sorry to say farewell to the Fremontia for it was a sort of flower child from its name but the other as you say is more characteristic as it comes from California.

Mr. Fremont was forbidden to write on account of pain in his chest, whilst at home the last time, and as I was his amanuensis, it seems that you are an old correspondent of mine, which must be my apology for giving you so long a letter but I knew it was a subject in which you felt really much interest.

With much respect I am
Very truly yours
Jesse Benton Fremont.

Washington City, February 21. 1849.

My dear Sir,

I have been so continuously out of health since the beginning of the year that your letter and the list have had to lie by until now. My eyes being somewhat affected by general weakness I would not use them. Long hopeful letters from Mr. Fremont and the knowledge of his being in safety up to the 1st of December have had their share in making me feel better, and although I am now in a fortnight I shall send you the finished list. I think the drawing made on the last expedition must have been carried along, to be put with those now being made - I cannot find the one you speak of. Mr. Fremont showed it to me & I remember it well.

If you have a proof can you let me have one to take to Mr. Fremont? I shall be in New York for two or three days before we sail - about the 5th or 7th of March. If you are in the city at that time I shall hope to see you. At all events I expect to carry Mr. Fremont a long letter from you.

From this Congress Mr. Fremont will not allow anything to be asked. They have but a few days to live and we hope for a better Act.
This expedition will do something for geography but the snows are too deep for botanizing.

I send you the packet which contains as much of his letters as answers the first enquiries of his friends.

Ever respectfully yours

Jesse Benton Fremont.

My dear Sir,

I find the list of the plants can be made out by me, with some guessing at Latin and I hope the enclosed is readable.
They go as high as 511, and will send on the remainders at once.

No apology is needed for not answering my letter, I know so well how incessant and fatiguing your occupations are - I am much gratified at being written to at all.
I am waiting for Fitzwilliam How movements to receive some letters from W^m Fremont. They are to be middle of December I suppose. having only accounts through a third person. The great point of his health, however, is most satisfactory. He had entirely recovered energy and sound health.

This will I know give you real pleasure.

With much respect
Very truly yours
W. B. Fremont
